Good Evening (b)(3):50 USC 3507;
 (b)(6)

I wanted to alert you that Michael Richter has submitted a request for appeal. DIA has forwarded the request to DoD's Office of Prepublication and Security Review. I passed your POC information to Pat Skinner, policy branch chief, for further coordination activity.

Should you have additional questions, please contact me.

Regards,

In regard to our appeal language: In our view, the 30-days would start from the date DIA responds to the author. If the author wishes to appeal, he must do so in writing and the appeal must come from DIA as the author's obligation for prepublication review is with your agency.

However, because the author must follow DIA's regulations, if there is no stipulation for appeal rights in your regulations, then the author may not have appeal rights through our process either.

Hope that helps!

Good Afternoon

(b)(3):50 USC
3507;(b)(6)

Having just now heard from all stakeholders, we are just now able to re-engage the author with guidance to close this case. Two questions:

1. Regarding your guidance about the author's 30-days to appeal, can that clock re-start?
2. Although we referred the case to you, DIA/DoD is NOT advocating for the author's appeal. Should he wish to do so, how do we direct him?

I do not recall your full secure line number. If you wish to discuss via phone, I am available.

Thanks.

The Publications Review Board has completed its review of Michael Richter's manuscript "Comedy and Terror in Guantanamo Bay." The Board has determined that the following information in the manuscript is inappropriate for disclosure in the public domain (i.e., is considered to be classified information) and must be revised or deleted prior to publication.

(b)(3):50 USC 3024(i)

Please see the edited pages attached.

If the author adds material to or changes the text the Board has approved for publication, please submit these additions or changes to us before the author shares them with anyone else. In such a case, please mark or otherwise clearly indicate the new material so we can expedite our review.

If the author disagrees with the Board's determination, the Department of Defense may ask the Board to reconsider its initial determination. Please include any and all information or explanation of the facts the author believes the Board should know. Citations or copies of similar references that show this information to have been previously released and already in the public domain are appropriate, although a mere listing of published citations may not necessarily be sufficient to change the Board's decision. If the Board upholds its initial decision, the Department of Defense on behalf of the author, may then formally appeal the Board's reconsideration decision. Such appeals go to the Agency's Executive Director for a final Agency decision. If Department of Defense wishes to appeal, please do so within 30 days of the Board's reconsideration decision. The appeal must be in writing and must be sent to the Board's Chairman. Appeal documentation must include the material intended for publication and any supporting material the Executive Director should consider. Please note that in all cases, the decision of the ExDir/CIA is final. If an appeal is NOT brought to the attention of ExDir/CIA within applicable time limits, the original decision of the PRB will be adopted.

Please contact PRB with any questions.

Sincerely,

 PRB Staff
